To Hon. James G. Berret, Mayor of Washington: We have now gone through, in my last paper, (No. 2) from the best data procurable, (the reports of the companies themselves,) and endeavored to ascertain (as promised in my first paper, No. 1) the commencement and career of the water works of each city named; the cost of construction; the capacity; the daily consumption; the annual expenses and revenue, and other points of interest. A synopsis of ti	is may be	offered:	Saltier (Special

And we have appears with these lights before us, suggested in my first paper, with these lights before us, as to the best and most appropriate mode by which the cities of Washington and Georgetown may be supplied with an unfailing and abundant supply of good and wholesome water." We have much reason to be thankful that these works were planned, carried on, and completed, by the skill and knowledge of so competent an eugineer as Captain Meigs. The error into which, in almost every case, the constructors of water-works have fallen is, that they have made no provision either in the extent or character of their plans for the future progress of the city. London is surplied by sixty steam engines, yet committees in Parliament and commissioners are constantly discussing "how a better supply of water can be furnished to the Metropolis." The complaint now in New York, costly and extensive as are the works, is that they do not meet the wants of the community. Cincinnati, it will be seen, will have to reconstruct her works from this very cause. So of Philadelphia. The advice of Houghton to engineers seems to be unheeled—"Be sure to build large enough; you will find it difficult to over-estimate."

This error was plainly seen and avoided by Captain Meigs. According to his estimate, the capacity of the reservoir will be 250,000,000 gallons. It will allow a daily consumption of 67,015,400 gallons. By the liberality of the government the water will soon be pervading the avenue from the reservoir at the Falls to the navy-yard, a distance of about fifteen miles. From this abundant reservoir, how is the water to be conducted to the houses of the inhabitants? There are three modes that suggest themselves by which the water can be brought to the house of each inhabitant:

I. By Congress.

II. By the corporation of the city.

I. By Congress.

II. By the corporation of the city.

III. By a corporate company.

As to the first, it is idle to hope for such liberality.

Already Congress, with princely munificence, has formed the reservoir, laid the mains, at the expense of more than

As to the lines, it is like to the reservoir, laid the mains, at the expense of more than two millions of dollars.

As to the second, this cannot be done by the corporation of the city without some legislation giving them power to create a debt or lay an additional tax. At the last election held in this city this water question as to raising a tax on the people was submitted to the people. A most meagre vote was cast, and decided by a vote of 1,304 to 1,113. Experience has shown that when heavy amounts of money or extensive patronage is vested in agents, who held their power from corporations, abuses are far more frequent than when that scarching operation of all governments and society—prieste interest, with its Argus eyes—scans every act and examines every contract. Too often "the right to do ill-deeds makes ill-deeds done." If this is impolitic, then we fall on the third mode—a corporate company, composed of individual stockholders. This, too, can only be done by an authority from Congress creating a company to raise the funds, construct the pipes, and supply at a low rate overy house in the city. The average annual rate paid by each house using water in Philadelphia is $5 48. The present scattered condition of the houses on the limits of Washington would necessarily involve a large outlay for pipe, and it might be a question whether, for the present, it could be furnished either by the corporation or any company at a much lower figure. One fact is fixed, in the mind of every thinking citizen of the community, that there must be system, regularity, and certainty as to the operations of the valer works. To secure this there must be some head to devise and hands to execute. If this latter mode be objectionable, then the work must be carried on by some power from the Corporation—a water board, shall lay down the pipe, make all necessary fixtures, and who shall have power to make such rules and regulations as shall be necessary and expedient. This is perhaps the best and most feasible mode. And here this questio as shall be necessary and expedient. This is perhaps to best and most feasible mode. And here this question left to other and abler hands by AQUARIUS.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Several measures of considerable public interest to ou citizens are now pending before the city councils, and siting the action of one or both boards. The subject which attracts especial attention just now is the distribu tion of Potomac water through the city. After mature deliberation and consultation with the United States engineer in charge of the work, the committee on draining of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night reported th following bill through their chairman, Mr. Brown : AN ACT to provide for the distribution throughout the Washington of the Potomac water. Et it enacted, &c., That upon the application of the owners of more than one-half of the real estate fronting upon any street or streets, avenue or avenues, (not less, however, than one square in longth,) it shall be the duty of the Mayor to cause cast-iron water mains or pipes to be securely and skilfully laid in or near the centre of such street or streets, avenue or avenues, thirty inches below the established grade thereof, with stop valves, outlet branches, &c., wherever required. And all houses, dwellings, or tenements situated upon real estate front-ing on any street or streets. ing on any street or streets, avenue or avenues, in which the water mains or pipes have been laid by this corporathe water mains or pipes have been laid by this corpora-tion, as herein provided, may, after the owners or occu-pants shall have procured from the Mayor or Commission-er of Public Buildings, as the case may be, permission to make the necessary excavations, and from the Mayor to open the foot pavements, be supplied with Potomac water free of any charge, tax, rate, tariff, or expense for-ever, except as is provided in the fourth section of this act.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That the Mayor shall, on or about the first Monday in April, 1859, and at a similar period in each subsequent year, after having given legal notice, receive proposals for the laying complete of all matter wines or silver and the receiver of ellipses of the statement of ellipses and the receiver of ellipses of the statement of ellipses and the receiver of ellipses of the statement of ellipses and the receiver of ellipses given legal notice, receive proposals for the laying complete of all water mains or pipes and the erection of all fire-plug hydrants required during the succeeding twelves months, (the city furnishing the cas'-iron mains or pipes, branches, bends, valves, and fire-plug hydrants,) and the contract shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The work to be done in every case to the satisfaction of the Mayor, or other existing officer of the corporation whom he may designate to inspect the same. Sac. 3. And be it enacted. That all supply water mains laid in conformity with the provisions of this act, said connecting with the mains belonging to the United States, shall be of the uniform capacity of eight inches diameter, inside measurement, and all lateral mains or pipes fed by the said supply mains, shall be of the uniform capacity of four inches diameter, inside measurement,

Sec. 4. And be it enacted, That so soon as the said supply mains or lateral pipes are laid as above provided, it shall be the duty of the Mayor to pay the expense thereof out of the funds of the ward in which such mains or pipes shall have been laid; and, to reimburse the ward dund, he shall immediately thereafter direct the proper commissioner of improvements to assess all the real estate fronting on said street or streets, avenue or avenues, at the uniform rate of fifty cents for each front foot, and the tax so levied shall be collected in the same manner as provided by law for the collection of the special tax for paved footways and lighting the streets.

Sec. 6. And be it enacted, That if any person or persons shall wilfully and maliciously break, injure, or destroy any water main or pipe, branch, beind, valve, fire ping hydrant, service pipe, cock, hose, fitting, or other thing used in the distribution throughout the streets or avenues, or the introduction into the houses or tenements of Fotomac water, such person or persons, upon being found guilty before any police magnistrate of this city, wander when the charten of Fotomac water, such person or persons, upon being found guilty before any police magnistrate of this city, wander when could have, nor more than thirty dollars, for each and every

Sec. 7. And be it enertial, That this act shall take effect only upon the enactment of a law by the Congress of the United States conferring upon this corporation the power to connect its supply mains with those laid by the general government, and to levy and collect the special tax required by the fourth section of this act, to be assessed upon the real estate so benefited by the laying of water mains or pipes, as the corporation is now empowered to do by the 8th section of the charter of 1826 and the 7th section of the amended charter of 1848, in the cases of lighting the streets and paving the footways and carriage ways of the city. Of which enactment by Congress the Mayor shall give notice by preclamation, published three times in all the daily newspapers of Washington.

Mr. Brown also introduced the following bill in relation to sewers; which was made the special order for next

The bill to equalize the salaries of the several police agistrates of this corporation simply authorizes and lirects the Mayor to pay them at the rate of $500 per annum, payable monthly out of the general fund of the corporation, and repeals all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith. This bill has passed the Board of Aldermen, and requires the concurrence of the lower board in order to become a law. Two members of the Board of Aldermen were so strenuously opposed to this bill that the majority were compelled to adopt the previous question in order to secure its passage.

CHARACTER AND REPOTATION .- An interesting lecture on this subject was delivered yesterday afternoon at Cor-coran's Hall, before the Normal Association of the Teaches and Pupils of Lafayette Institute, Franklin Academy, and Western Academy, by Prof. L. C. Loomis, A. M. He remarked that he was glad to meet so many of the parents and friends of the pupils on this occasion, for there could be no successful education of a child where home influences did not co-operate with the teacher. One of the greatest elements in education which every student feels is the element of home approbation. Every student at the outset of his career was desirous of carving out an honorable name for himself; and the reason why so many fail is not so much for want of a noble purpose as in consequence of a mis-directed aim. The mis-take was as to what true worth consisted in, as men and women; and it was the mistake of a lifetime. Proid Latin author (Sallust) had aptly remarked that men who would come up to the dignity of their nature ought not to pass their lives in obscurity like the beests of the field. who are formed with their bodies prone to the earth, and under necessary subjection to faculties are two-fold—the soul and the body, the latter designed for obedience, and the former to command. The body has a nature in common with the beasts of the field, while the soul has a nature in common with the gods. These were elevated sentiments for a heather writer, and it would be well to keep in view the superiority of man's immortal nature over the physical. They are not the men who do, but the men who think, that live in the remembrance of future generations. Michael Angelo, perhaps, never raised his hand to execute the sublime conceptions which render his name immortal. The labor of a human life was only equal to that of so many pounds of coal or gallons of water; but was "fe to be estimated in comparison with such a standard?

Prof. L. proceeded to show the difference between rep-ntation, or what people say of us, and character, or what we really are. Tae former might be gained or lost in a brief space of time, comparatively; but the latter was part of our life, which grew with us, and, once firmly fixed, was not easily changed. Hence the importance of forming correct habits when young—of learning to be industrious, true, and honest when boys and girls, in order that in after-life habits of virtue may be fixed and permanent. He also showed that every one's future was in a great measure within his own power ; there was no such thing as luck or fortune. Accidents were always either carelessness or ignorance; and the circumstances around us do not form our character, but only develop it, and show us and those around us what it really is Napoleon did not trust his battles to Providence, but said he had observed that Providence always favored those who had the heaviest cannon; in other words Providence helps those who help themselves. The whole lecture was replete with wholesome truths, and could not fail of having a good influence; and it may be ques tioned whether the older members of the audience might not profit by such sentiments, as well as those who were partier 'arly addressed.

Tr - Asylum.—From the monthly report of the Intendant of the Asylum, it appears that there were in the poor-house on the 31st of August 52 persons ; during the month of September 38 were received, making a total of 90. During the month of September 28 were discharged and four died, leaving, at the close of the month, 58 in the poor-house. There were in the work-house at the close of the month of August 76 persons; during the month of September 112 were committed, and 89 discharged. In addition to this, 30 eloped, leaving in the work-house on the 30th ult. 69 persons.

WARPINGTON THEATRE.—To-night is the farewell benefit of Miss Maggie Mitchell, and we hope all her friends will remember it and give her a reception commensurate with her merits. She is to appear as Peg Woffington, in the sterling comedy entitled "Masks and Faces," and in the character of Paul, in Major Noah's drama of "The Wandering Boys." With such a bill and such an actress, who could stay away? We confidently predict a crowded such offence; to be recovered and appropriated as are other fines and penalties imposed by the acts of this corporation.

Suc. 7. And be it enertial, That this act shall take effect only upon the enactment of a law by the Congress of the United States conferring upon this corporation the power proprietors unexpectedly received (per Adams' Express, all charges being paid) a large oval gilt frame, three feet long by two and a half-wide, enclosing a testimonial of the regiment. The lettering is executed and displayed by a master-hand, Hiram Dixon, esq., of New York, and would easily deceive most persons as to its having been executed by a copper-plate engraver. It reads as fol-

Seventh Regiment, National Guards.

To Messrs. [7] P. and M. Brown, Washington, D. C.

The undersigned having been directed by resolution of the Board of Officers to make suitable acknowledgments on behalf of the regiment for the many acts of courtesy and bindness extended to us on the occasion of our late visit to Richmond and Washington, find it a most difficult duty to coavey, in any adequate sense, the deep impressions that have been made upon our hearts by the warm and varied hospitalities extended to us at every point, and by all with whom we came in contact, each vieing with the other to treat us more like brothers than strangers from a different State; but among all the acts of kindness shown us, none has afforded us greater pleasure, and at the same time proved so difficult of acknowledgment, as your own munificent hospitality in quartering at your own splendid house, without charge, nearly one-half of the regiment, free from all restraint, and providing for all their wants with a liberality as unequalled as it was unexpected.

As often as we shall recur to the pleasures of our trip, and the acts of hospitality everywhere extended to us, none will have left deeper impressions than your own; and each one of us will be but too happy in an opportunity of personally testifying our appreciation of them.

That the largest measure of happiness and success may be in store for you, is the sincere wish of every officer and member of the National Guard.

THE MOUNT VERNON COTTON FACTORY at Alexandria is again in operation, the machinery having been thoroughly repaired, and many of the latest improvements in the manufacture of cotton goods introduced. A large number of hands have received employment by the resump-tion of operations at this establishment; and we trust that with the additional facilities and the favorable auspices under which work is resumed, success will crown the efforts of the energetic proprietor. The goods manufactured at the factory will no doubt be unsurpassed by those made in any factory in the country, and should always command the highest market prices, and be always in demand. With the additions and improve ments now made, we see no reason why the enterprise should not prove eminently successful.

NEW YORK, July, 1858.

The Op" A .- The troupe which is shortly to visit us is, perhaps, the fuest and most complete operatic company which has ever performed in this city. The performers are leading artists, and they are under that prince of conductors, Max Maretzek, which assures us that eve rything undertaken by the company will be rendered with the most perfect care and accuracy. Attention is called particularly to the terms announced for subscription to the operatic season of three nights. They are exceedingly reasonable, and all who wish to hear three of the finest modern operas will do well to accept the liberal offer of the manager of our theatre. Subscriptions will be taken, and the sale of seats commenced on Friday. See announcement in our advertising columns.

"Their name is Legion," may be applied to those who die annually of consumption. Science has of late years sensibly diminished the number, and it is gratifying to know that Dr. Wister's Balaam of Wild Cherry has created a potent influence in attaining this end.

A LEXANDRIA HIGH SCHOOL.—This institution is a select boarding school for young men and youth in the city of Alexandrin, Virginia. The number of students continuous, as in former years, to be limited to as many only as can receive the minute attention of the principal, it being list desire to combine, as far as practicable, the social and moral advantages of a family with the classification and discipline of a school.

The principal brings to his assistance in the pursuit of his profession, the experience of more than twenty years, during which time has been engaged in the instruction of young persons from almost every section of the Union.

Students may prepare themselves at this school for entering any class in college, or for the active business of life. Especial attention is given to the study of natural philosophy, chemistry, and the mathematics, as well as to book-keeping, and the application of chemistry to the arts are taught by the sid of systematically-arranged cabinets, and are made a part of the regular course on civil engineering.

Full courses of illustrated lectures on natural philosophy, chemistry, and astronomy are annually delivered in presence of all the students.

A number of improvements, both at the school and welling, have recently been made, such as the erection of an astronomical observatory, the enlargement of the laboratory, addition o rectiation rooms, &c.
